

ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY AT HOME

MEET OLIVE

Olive, 83, lives alone in a 2-bedroom retirement village unit. She receives support from an aged care package and her daughter visits once a week to take her shopping and to appointments. Olive has arthritis in her hips, knees, back and hands and worries about falling. Her memory is usually pretty good but she benefits from reminders to take her medication and to go to appointments. She walks unaided in her home and uses a four wheel walker when out and about. She uses aids to assist her to manage occasional incontinence.

Olive loves to garden and share afternoon tea with her neighbours.

MEET MARK

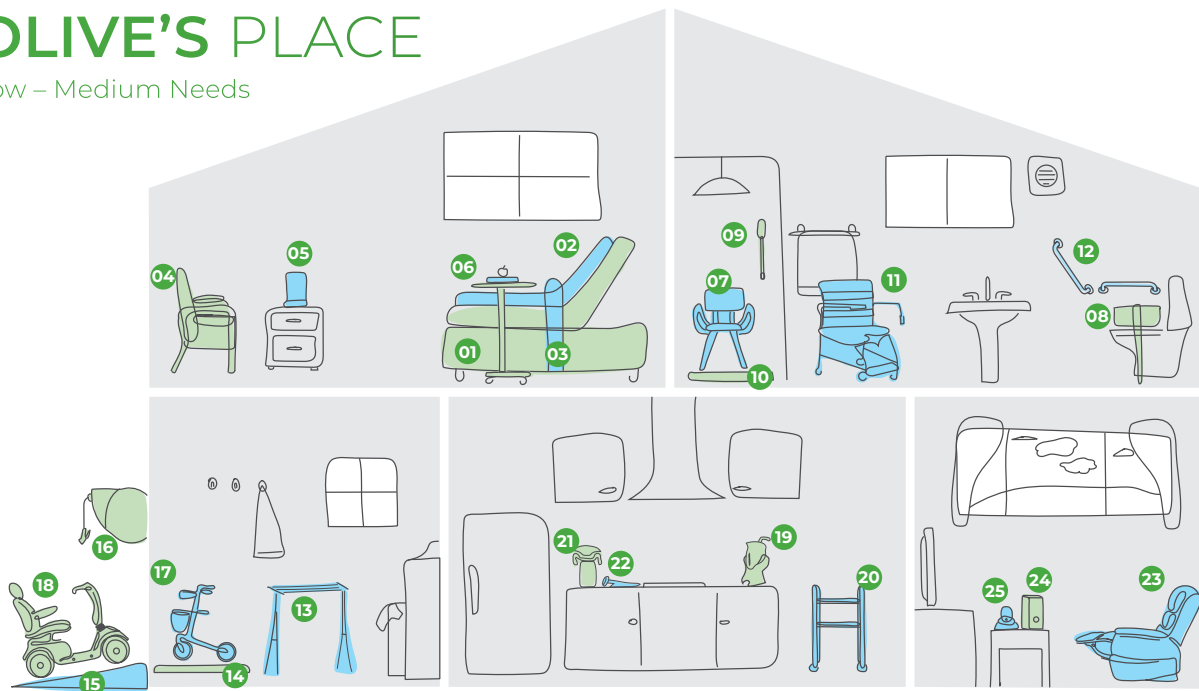

Mark, 68, lives with his wife in their family home. He has MS and needs full assistance for transfers and mobility. He receives help from NDIS for daily personal care but can manage his own grooming and eating. He can fatigue easily so paces himself when he knows he has friends visiting or if he is going out and he enjoys a warm bath to manage muscle cramps.

He enjoys keeping in touch with friends and family on his laptop, attending gym session each week and going out for meals with friends.
